BEER CORNER

NEW EVENTS THIS JANUARY

EAST END WOOD FEST - JAN 16

Featuring ALL LOCAL BEERS, ALL AGED IN WOOD, ALL IN ONE ROOM (okay, maybe two rooms), and all served by the Brewers who brewed them. And all available for your personal sampling and enjoyment. Of course, our event co-conspirators from Wigle will be here too, sampling their barrel-aged wares.

POUR FOR A CURE FEST - JAN 22

A craft beer event being held Friday, January 22nd at the US Steel Tower in Downtown Pittsburgh. This event is entering its 6th year and all proceeds from the three-hour gathering will be donated to the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society

*Last month I mentioned the soon to be opening Helicon Brewing in Oakdale PA. The head brewer Chris Brunetti was named one of the Pittsburgh Post Gazette's people to meet in 2016. He is a well known and like homebrewer and active member of Pittsburgh's homebrew club TRASH (Three Rivers Association of Serious Homebrewers). He is expected to begin brewing in February 2016 and opening in either late February or March. Located at the old JOY dogfood factory and right along the Panhandle Trail (get out scouting for a trail now). It will be a larger brewery in the same realm as Spoonwood but without any kitchen services. There will be a tasting room though and expect to see kegs being sold to bars around the city.
